| Comments       | The Three Horseshoes has suffered in recent years due to the original landlord awaiting retirement and the last tenants driving away customers because of their attitude. The premises has been a public house for over 130 years and is in an ideal village location. A village the size of Burbage should be able to support 2 pubs easily. The only remaining pub in the village does not serve food and is not open lunchtimes, including Sundays. The premises did get passing trade from the nearby K&amp;A canal and from cyclists passing on a national cycling route. |
